PRINCESS MARY MARRIED AMID GREAT POMP

Becomes Bride of Viscount Lascelles at Historic Westminster Abbey—Route of Royal Procession Is Lined by Tens of Thousands of Cheering Britishers

(BY PERCY M. SARL)

WESTMINSTER ABBEY, London.—(United Press)—Princess Mary of Britain today became the bride of Viscount Lascelles.

In a wedding ceremony marked for its beauty and solemnity the popular princess and the man of her choice, a British commoner were married shortly before noon in the presence of an assembly of peers, commoners and visiting royalty.

Viscount Henry, George Charles Lascelles and Princess Mary were pronounced man and wife at 11:43. They left the Abbey together a few minutes after noon.

Historic Westminster Abbey was a scene of unsurpassed beauty as the princess, on the arm of her father, King George, moved down the aisle, to the magnificent altar, where Viscount Lascelles stood waiting.

In a brief, but impressive Church of England wedding service, the couple were united by the archbishop of Canterbury. Fifteen other English clergymen assisted in the ceremony.

King George himself placed Princess Mary's hand in that of Viscount Lascelles.

"GOD SAVE THE KING" SANG

Princess Victoria Alexandra Alice Mary, as she was called during the marriage service, promised to love, honor and obey her husband, who stood proudly erect as the archbishop pronounced the concluding words that made them man and wife.

After the dean of the Abbey had uttered his blessing and the collects, the customary address, the closing hymn and the benediction had been finished, the audience, led by the choir, sang "God Save the King." This was the only departure from the customary ceremony of the church of England.

The fashionable audience stood while the Abbey rang with the singing, which was more in honor of the wedding, blushing princess, now Viscountess Lascelles, than her royal father who stood beside her.

Then the little wedding party, which now included Queen Mary, and the dowager queen, went into the chapel where the register was signed. Fair skies beamed down through occasional clouds as the great day for the princess dawned.

ADMITS FLEEING SOCIETY WOMEN

A. F. Lindsay, Held for Swindling $1,000,000, Confesses

BIG SUMS FROM MRS. DUKE

Prisoner Says However, Amounts Claimed Are Excessive

NEW YORK.—(Associated Press)—Alfred E. Lindsay, accused of swindling society women out of nearly $1,000,000 in fake stock deals, today confessed that many of the charges against him were true, according to Richard Murphy, assistant district attorney.

Lindsay, a former stock-broker and strike-breaker, was arrested last night at Overbrook, Pa., on an indictment charging "larceny" and brought to New York by detectives.

Lindsay accepted all blame for the alleged transactions, Mr. Murphy said, and declared that when he was exposed in the newspapers he and his wife discussed the possibilities of a double suicide.

AMOUNTS TOO BIG

Mr. Murphy said Lindsay frankly admitted taking money from Mrs. W. H. Arnold and Mrs. Dorothy Atwood, which he was unable to pay back and also said he received large sums from Mrs. Lillian N. Duke, the "tobacco king." He declared, however, according to Mr. Murphy, that the amounts he is alleged to have received were grossly excessive.

Lindsay, according to Mr. Murphy, said he had been paying the money back to some of the women in weekly installments. He is alleged to have said in his confession:

PRISONER'S STORY

Mrs. Atwood has been getting $325 a month and I gave her $125 to pay her rent and have been paying her for three years. Miss Caroline Nilsson (an actress) received from me $2,000 during the month of December. They have all been receiving it. I did not leave anybody high and dry although I got into a mess. Miss Florence James has been getting $175 a month for years."

Asked if he had received as much as $300,000 from Mrs. Duke, Lindsay, according to Mr. Murphy, responded:

"That is rubbish."

"No, decidedly not. I'm telling you the God's honest truth and I may be struck dead after that."

"How much do you owe these women?"

"To be frank with you, I can't tell you."

CONFERENCE OFF

Mine Wage Meeting Scheduled For Cleveland Cancelled

COLUMBUS.—(By Associated Press)—The proposed joint wage conference between representatives of the United Mine Workers of America and operators of the central competitive field, to have been held at Cleveland March 2, has been called off, because operators have refused to participate, according to word received late yesterday by President Lee Hall of the Ohio mine workers from John L. Lewis, international president.

Union officials said that it is unlikely that another attempt to meet with operators to arrange a new wage scale will be made. "Unless the operators meet in conference to instigate mutual settlement prior to April 1, or abandon their proposed slash in wages, a universal strike of the mine workers in Ohio is inevitable," Hall declared.

Hope was expressed by W. D. McKinney, secretary of the Southern Ohio Coal Exchange, that cessation of work might be averted by individual conferences between miners and operators in the Ohio field.

LAST PLEAS FOR LIFE REFUSED

Two Ohioans Must Die in Electric Chair Tonight

COLUMBUS.—(By Associated Press)—Harry Bland, 23, of Pomeroy, and Walter Wright, 23, of Wellsville, Jefferson-co., must die in the electric chair at the Ohio penitentiary shortly after midnight tonight, Governor Davis this afternoon refusing to grant either a reprieve.

Mrs. Elizabeth McDowell, of East Liverpool, mother of Walter Wright, who last week personally appealed to the governor for a stay of execution for her son, was told at the executive office this afternoon that her son would have to pay the penalty tonight for his murder of Harry D. Cummins, a Steubenville automobile dealer, on a lonely road near Steubenville.

Attorneys for Bland were told at the same time that Bland also would have to die tonight.

UNUSUAL REQUESTS

Wright today made three unusual requests of penitentiary officials, who say the requests will be allowed. He asked permission for two personal friends to witness his death, that the prosecuting attorney who obtained his conviction be barred from the death chamber and that he be given not less than five minutes and not more than thirty minutes in which to make a last statement.

Wright killed Cummins while the latter was demonstrating an automobile for him. Wright, with a gun in his hand, demanded that Cummins turn the car over to him and give him a receipt for it. The salesman refused, whereupon Wright shot and killed him.

Bland, convicted of killing George Washington Beagle, aged gracer of Tanner's Run, Ohio, during a robbery, had made no unusual last requests of penitentiary officials.

Both condemned men will be given hearty meals this evening and expected to spend their last hours in prayer with their spiritual advisers.

DESK MAN QUILTS

Filing System Gets Dotson's Goat—To Go On Beat

Dissatisfied with conditions at the city jail, J. A. Dotson, desk sergeant on the shift from 7 a. m. until 3 p. m., announced Tuesday morning that he has requested Chief of Police Morton F. Dawson for a patrolman's beat.

Dotson stated that an elaborate filing system, in which practically every little bit of stationery, postcards, circulars and other printed matter which comes to headquarters must be stored away for future references, has "gotten his goat."

When asked whether the filing system was instituted by City Manager Bingham, Dotson said yes. Several days ago a huge cabinet, which formerly was used by the safety director, was moved from the city office to a position near the sergeant's desk.

Dotson's chief objection is that there are too many things for one man to attend to around the place, thus he seeks the quiet of the beat, free from many troubles and worries.

Chief Dawson said he was aware of Dotson's intentions, and that he was making preparations to switch the force around considerably, but stated he would not have them lined up until Tuesday afternoon.

CLEVELAND BUILDERS MAY STRIKE TOMORROW

CLEVELAND.—Action to determine whether the twenty-one unions of building trades employees of the Building Trades Council shall quit work tomorrow, tying up construction work in Cleveland, or whether a settlement is possible is to be taken at a meeting late this afternoon between representatives of the unions and the Building Trades Employers' Association.

Hope was expressed by both sides that something would develop to work but the basis for this was not disclosed. It was said this afternoon's meeting might last until midnight.

Unless an agreement is reached, the employers have announced they will post a new scale of wages tomorrow which provides for wage reductions ranging from 13 to 36 per cent. These terms are not acceptable to the workers, Charles Smith, secretary of the trades council declared.

DAWSON'S SISTER DANCE MATRON

Appointment of Mrs. Minnie Treaster is Confirmed

Appointment of Mrs. Minnie Treaster, as city dance hall matron was confirmed by Manager C. A. Bingham Tuesday.

Mrs. Treaster, he stated, will serve without pay and will supervise conduct of dancers in halls in the city. She has been serving unofficially in such capacity for some time past.

The new matron is a sister of Chief of Police Morton F. Dawson. She was first employed at the time when the city was threatening to close certain halls in the city where conditions were alleged to be undesirable. Recently dance hall proprietors requested Bingham to make such an appointment.

Dance hall managers have been paying Mrs. Treaster for her services and will continue to do so for the time being, it is said.

Later some arrangement may be made to pay her from the city treasury, Purchasing Agent H. N. Osgood said.

The plan, he said, is to turn over one-half of the fees for dance hall licenses to the matron, and the remainder into the police pension fund.

This would make the position worth approximately $116 annually, based on the sale of permits for last year.

This money is turned into the general fund at present.

Legislation authorizing the change to be made has not been formulated, according to Osgood.

INJUNCTION ISSUED

CINCINNATI.—Declaring that the rate of 35 cents per thousand cubic feet of gas to be "unreasonable and confiscatory," Judge Stanley Roetlinger of the common pleas court today issued a permanent injunction against the 35 cent rate fixed by ordinance of the Elmwood Place, Ohio, council. It is believed likely that the Ohio public utilities commission will be asked to fix a rate pending an agreement between Elmwood Place and the Union Gas and Electric Company.

PLANS TO EXTEND FIRE LIMITS

C. C. Code Body Hears Protest on Proposed Shingle Order

Recommendations for the new district to be created for city fire limits, were outlined by the building code committee of the Chamber of Commerce, Monday night.

The suggested limits will not be made a part of the code, according to Peter Hulsken, chairman, but will be sent to the city commission as a separate matter.

Lima has sadly outstripped the present fire limits.

The area suggested is as follows: commencing at the Erie railroad 200 feet west of Main-st. and running north to Elm-st., west to Pierce-st., north on Pierce to the Pennsylvania track; east to West-st.; north to McKibben-st.; east to a point 200 feet west of N. Main-st.; north to Grand-av.; east to the B. & O. railroad, south along the tracks to Eureka-st.; west to 200 feet east of S. Main-st. and south to the Erie, and west to the place of beginning.

Changes in the proposed code to rectify contradictory clauses in Section 150 relating to buildings inside the fire limits were adopted.

Protests were made by representative lumber dealers against prohibiting the use of wooden shingles. The dealers said no other city in Ohio has such drastic regulations. They also assert that banishing of wooden shingles will mean the doubling in price of asphalt and ready roofing.

Fire records of the city show a large per cent of losses originate from roofs lighting from chimney sparks. The lumbermen said they will be satisfied if the use of shingle ban is extended only to the fire zone.

SIX ARRESTED IN MURDER RAID

Alleged Drug Gangsters Taken in W. D. Taylor Killing

LOS ANGELES.—(By Associated Press)—Six men were taken into custody by the police here early this morning and were being held for investigation in connection with the slaying of William Desmond Taylor, motion picture director, in his apartments here on the night of February 1.

The men whose names have been withheld by the police were said to have been members of a "narcotic gang" which carried on extensive operations in the Hollywood section.

Officers were seeking this morning a third member of the alleged gang who escaped from the house in which the two men were arrested. According to the police, the men were sought as possible suspects in the Taylor case following a story told to an officer by a woman, also said to have been a member of the purported gang.

This woman, whose name is withheld, told the police, they said, that she had heard the men threaten Taylor's life because they feared he was interfering with their "business."

Early this morning patrolmen raided a house in the Wilshire district and took the two men into custody. A full investigation of the activities of the alleged gang will be made, it is stated.

President Appeals for Government Aid to Merchant Marine in Address to Congress—Necessary as Second Line of Nation's Defense, He Asserts.

Trade Fleet Also Highest Agency of Peace, the Executive Tells Solons—Would Raise Funds from Division of Customs Collections.

WASHINGTON.—(United Press)—A great American merchant marine is necessary as the second line of the nation's naval defense, President Harding told congress today in appealing for approval of his ship subsidy program.

Such a merchant marine is also, he added, the highest agency of peace and it bears no threat and incites no suspicion.

President Harding incorporated in his speech almost bodily the recommendations of the United States shipping board for a direct subsidy amounting to about $30,000,000 a year and calling for various indirect aids. All these he asked congress to approve.

PRESIDENT'S RECOMMENDATIONS PROVIDING FOR MERCHANT MARINE SUMMARIZED

The president's recommendations, summarized, follow:

Creation of a merchant marine fund by diverting ten per cent of all customs receipts, netting about $32,000,000 a year.

All tonnage taxes collected on both foreign and American ships to be added to the merchant marine fund.

Doubling tonnage taxes to yield about $4,000,000 annually.

One-half of all profits over ten per cent to be added to the merchant marine fund. Creation of $125,000,000 construction loan fund, to be loaned at two per cent for ship building.

Deductions from income taxes of shippers an amount equal to five per cent of freight on goods imported in American ships to stimulate use of American bottoms. More liberal depreciation allowances in income tax returns on ships. All income taxes to be waived when the amount of such taxes is applied to half the cost of new ship construction.

Fifty per cent of all immigrants must be carried in American ships.

Creation of a merchant marine naval reserve to the maximum number of 5,000 officers and 30,000 men employed on merchant ships receiving a maximum total of pay from the navy of $3,000,000 a year.

All government freight and passenger traffic to be on American ships where possible.

Army transport service to be turned over to the shipping board.

Coastwise trade laws to be extended to the Philippine Islands, requiring that all trade with the islands and the United States be by American ships.

Preferential rail rates on thru shipments of American ships. ment of railroad-owned steamship lines.

Coordination of rail and water transportation and development of the widespread opposition to agriculture interests to a ship subsidy which has been a political "bugbear" for many years.

President Harding emphasized that shipping is no more a sectional interest than agriculture or manufacturing, and that all sections of the country stood to gain by a thriving ocean commerce under the American flag.

He commended the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterway project as a broad visioned enterprise.

SUBSIDIES ONLY MEANS

Only by means of subsidies the merchant marine of the United States be made great and the nation take the place on the sea which it held in the early days of the republic, he said.

Apparently fearless of the opposition to subsidies, the president strongly recommended the shipping program.

The president spoke in the hall of the house. The galleries and the floor were jammed.

"The merchant marine is universally recognized as the second line of naval defense," he declared.

"It is indispensable in the time of great national emergency. It is commendable to unbuild and maintain because it is the highest agency of peace and amity and bears no threat and incites no suspicion."

"And yet it is a supreme assurance without which we should be unworthy of our safety and unheeding of our need to continue growth and maintain influence. America cannot hope to compete in world trade unless it is equipped to carry its own goods."

The term "subsidy" has long been "hateful" to the American public, he admitted, but the desire to build up America's merchant marine has outlived all defeats.

EFFORTS DEFEATED

"The conflict between two schools of political thought heretofore has defeated all efforts to employ the governmental aid which other nations found advantageous while we held aloof," he continued.

The president asserted that American indifference to the vital necessity of a merchant marine, as part of the national defense resulted in waste and extravagance during the war, costing at the time he came into office $16,000,000 a month and the "added humiliation on ships libeled in foreign ports."

Nevertheless it was the American tonnage that was mainly responsible for America's ability to share in the world trade immediately following the war.

"In all probabilities, the losses we have sustained in our shipping to the American people in the saving of ocean freights in that period," he said.

Stories About Hardships All
Bunk Say Dwellers

SYMPATHY NOT NEEDED

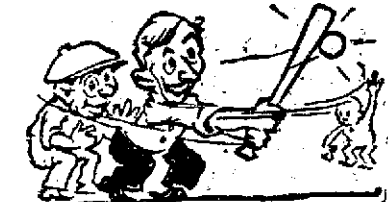

Ex-Soldiers Enjoy Life There—
Not Freezing

INATIANAPOLIS — (Special) — Just imagine the members of the Ketchikan Post of the American Legion huddled together in an igloo suffering untold hardships and hobnobbing with sourdoughs and mushy northdogs.

Just imagine it!

Because that's all it is—imagination.

The American Post, up Alaska way, wants the world to realize this. Somehow the story has spread that there is much hardship in the Ketchikan Post. This resulted in letters of sympathy pouring in on the ex-soldiers.

So the historian of the Alaska Post dispatched a letter to the American Legion headquarters at Indianapolis and tore down all the dope about "frozen ears," "hut dwellers," and such like.

"The only dog-team here," said the letter, "are hot-dog teams. We are not bundled up in furs and no cold wind or snow is chilling us; to the marrow. When you think we are molting for gold, we are likely hitting a baseball out or stepping down to a movie. And maybe we're spinning about in an auto."

The coldest thing about Ketchikan, according to the letter, are the cold facts about the humdrum life. There isn't a gold miner in the whereabout and the thermometer has never dropped below the 5 below mark.

When Ketchikan is believed to be smothered under the terrific blizzards, it is fanning itself with the disheartening realization that the deepest snow in recent years was three inches. Some winters pass with less than that amount of snow all season.

When Ketchikaners should be trudging along white trails with their breath visible on the frosty air, they are hanging up their overcoat in the hall and standing a dripping umbrella in the kitchen sink.

There is in all Ketchikan not a single genuine log cabin. Neither are there igloos. People live in concrete, brick and wood clapboard dwellings.

Seriously enough the unromantic and temperate nature of Ketchikan is caused by a stream of water. The Japanese current, coming thousands of miles from the warm waters around Japan, swings in along the coast here and gives Revillagigedo Island a warmer climate than is enjoyed in any of the northern states of the union.

COLUMBUS, Ohio. — "Dr. Pierce's Anuric (kidney and backache) Tablets are the best medicine I have ever taken for kidney disorders. My kidneys were congested and inactive, my back ached and was so sore I could not bear to touch it. In addition to my kidneys hurting, my bladder was very weak. I had taken Anuric only a very short time when I was rid of all my bladder weakness and my kidneys became active and normal. I do not suffer any more with my back. I would advise those who suffer with any kidney disorder or bladder trouble to take Anuric without delay." — Monford Slagle, 447 W. 18th St.

SPOOKS BELIEVED FIRE FROM RADIO STATIONS

HALIFAX, N. S. — The proximity of radio stations is the latest explanation of "Antigonish-co" "spooks," which have driven Alex MacDonald and family from home and baffled investigators. Fire underwriters are discussing suggestions that the mysterious fires have been due to electric phenomena caused by the powerful wireless stations at Glace Bay. Several other families in Antigonish-co are now reported to have been driven from their homes by mysterious fires during the last dozen years.

Inquiries received here indicate a small army of American newspapermen is preparing to follow Dr. Walter Franklin Prince, director of the American Institute for Scientific Research, who has accepted an invitation to undertake investigation of the mystery.

READY FOR TRIAL

Sidney Jurist May Preside in Case of Nierengarten

WAPAKONETA — Continued illness of Judge F. C. Layton of common pleas court here may make it necessary that another judge preside in the trial of the case of the State of Ohio against Harold Nierengarten, Lim youth, charged with the murder of Joseph Scott Kershaw.

The trial of the Lima slayer opens Monday, March 6. Subpoenas have been issued for a large number of witnesses from Auglaize, Allen and Shelby-co.

Prosecuting Attorney Carl Timmermeister asks that the life of Nierengarten be forfeited to the state for the murder of Kershaw in a B. & O. Railroad box car on November 20, between Lima and Wapakoneta. The young prisoner has maintained a stoical silence in his cell since his recapture, after breaking jail a few weeks ago.

It is expected that Judge Joseph Barnes of Sidney will preside when the case comes to trial if Judge J. C. Layton is incapacitated by illness.

Judge C. A. Stueve, counsel for the youthful prisoner, has not indicated the line of defense that will be made.

BUS AS FEEDER TO RAILS URGED

Would Develop Territory, Indianapolis Convention Speaker Says

STRICT RULES ADVOCATED

Would Regulate Trucks to Protect Interurbans

INDIANAPOLIS. — (Associated Press) — Utilization of motor buses as feeders to interurban lines will mean increased development of territory served, Harry Reid, President of the Interstate Public Service company, declared today at the Mid-Year Meeting of the American Electric Railway association.

"Buses and trucks," he added, "should be placed under strict regulation generally and not be permitted to compete with Electric lines." He cited the Pennsylvania laws as examples of the sort of regulation he advocated.

LICENSE TAX

"If trackless transportation is established," he said, "its charges should be regulated by proper authority, so no injustice may be done, either to the public, the interurban or the truck. In addition to regulation of this character, the bus or truck should pay a special license tax, not only as a compensation for the damage done to the roads which the interurban helped to build, but also as an off-set to special tax burdens placed upon the interurban industry."

"I can readily see how they might come to be of great assistance as cross-country feeders to our lines."

"A large amount of high class tonnage can be created for the interurban and a service can be rendered to the rural districts which will prove of mutual benefit to the interurban company and the inhabitants served."

This policy will also tend largely to develop more rapidly the outlying territory. A development of this nature will establish an outlet for farm products from interior points, located on truck lines, to town and city markets which have heretofore been inaccessible. In turn, such a policy will make it possible for interior points to get their supplies with less effort and smaller expense and operate towards the general development of these rural territories, opening up new fields of industry."

Watch the little folks speed home for Kellogg's Corn Flakes

"Mudder, I always wins the race when I carry home Kellogg's Corn Flakes. I can't hardly wait till I have some quick mudder!"

It's great to see child-enthusiasm for Kellogg's; great to see every one in the family enjoy their crisp crunchiness and wonderful flavor! To sit down before a heaping bowlful of these joyous oven-browned "sweet-hearts-of-the-corn" and some milk or cream — and fresh fruit, if it's handy — is just about the very last word in appetizing appeal! And, your good taste will prove that!

Kellogg's Corn Flakes ought to be superior — they are the original Corn Flakes! Kellogg's are never tough or leathery; never hard to eat; never a disappointment!

Be certain to get Kellogg's — the delicious kind of Corn Flakes in the RED and GREEN package — because none are genuine without the signature of W. K. Kellogg, the originator of Toasted Corn Flakes.

A Statement

SCABS, ETC.

Should these terms be applied to people who have obligations to meet and are willing to work so they can meet them? Do the business men and citizens of Wapakoneta encourage us to LOAF, SQUANDER and TEAR DOWN when the slogan of the entire world today is WORK, SAVE and BUILD, or has the condition at the local Deisel-Wemmer cigar factory been exaggerated to the public, that they are not aware of the facts and truth of these conditions? Do you know for 5½ days last week checks will be issued by this firm to their bunch-breakers as high as $22.00, and to rollers as high as $28.12 under the present business crisis and re-adjustment to normal conditions, would we, the 68 El Verso workers of the Deisel-Wemmer Co., be justified in walking out of their factory and compelling them to move, can Wapakoneta afford to lose this shop and employment for 250 people? These are only fair questions which we ask the public, and until Wapakoneta can offer us something better by way of employment we feel it our duty as good citizens of the city to remain loyal to the Deisel-Wemmer Co. This article was not solicited by the Deisel-Wemmer Co., but has been offered in defense of the El Verso cigarmakers still in their employ, and if there is a business man in Wapakoneta who is not afraid of the truth and facts and will be kind enough to offer his show window we will display our weekly checks for public inspection.

Signed,
EL VERSO CIGARMAKERS.

(NOTE—The copy for the above statement, signed by the workers, is on file in the office of the Wapakoneta Daily News, Willoughby street, where it may be read by any person interested.)

PAYING THE PIPER

THOSE who dance must pay the fiddler." An age-old saying, as true today as when first uttered in the dim and misty long ago.

"Be sure your sins will find out" and "as ye sow so shall ye also reap," are likewise true and have a bearing on the all too prevalent habit of mankind in becoming obsessed with the belief that one can go on indefinitely defying the laws of nature; failing, refusing and neglecting to safeguard health.

It is a favorite habit of all too many persons to pay physicians for advice concerning their physical welfare and then proceed to flagrantly violate the orders given them, for their own good and welfare. These pay the fiddler for they have "enjoyed the dance of disobedience."

During the winter now drawing to a close and which has been for the most part an "open" one, Lima has been singularly fortunate in not having been visited by an epidemic of influenza. Weather conditions have been prolific of contagion, but while there have been numerous cases, the results have not been anything near like the epidemic that occurred when Uncle Sam's soldier boys were in the camps and in the battle lines overseas.

This can probably be attributed to several reasons. We learned many lessons from the war. One of the most important of these is the inclination for citizens to pay more attention to the very important matter of the preservation of their health. We are taking greater heed of injunctions given. Health boards, national, state and local, are more active. Clinics are being held for purposes of instruction and detection.

Mayhap some day instead of paying our physician to make us well after we become ill, we'll pay him for keeping us well and cut off his compensation when disease attacks. We're some thousands of years behind the Chinese in that respect, but maybe we'll catch up with the idea sometime.

AN UNCANNY POWER

SCIENTIFIC journals are predicting that inventors one of these days will stumble on a way to make an airplane stand still in the air without falling.

Many bright minds are working on the problem now.

An invention of this nature would put man close to the absolute conquering of gravity. In a faint way the pull of gravity on lead and some other substances has been reduced in scientific laboratories.

SUPPOSE that man learns how to free himself from gravity. What then?

For one thing, hard labor could be made easy. A moving van man, with an anti-gravity device, could make a piano as easily handled as a feather.

Heavy freight trains would become light. With gravity under control, friction would be reduced.

Flying would become safe and simple, no machine required. Man, regulating his weight, could fly with silk wings attached to his arms.

ALL this, you say, sounds like a pipe-dream? Admitted. But not more of a pipe-dream than the moving picture, wireless or airplane would have been considered even as late as Abraham Lincoln's day.

Gravity is a natural force. Man, if he follows far enough the road he now is traveling, will wind up with all natural forces harnessed—under control.

Today we send the human voice thousands of miles thru the air on wireless waves. In a strand of insulated copper wire we imprison and transport an electric current of 1,000,000 volts.

You can complete the list—thousands of them, each an accomplishment as wonderful as counteracting the law of gravity.

It's a good thing to ponder such possibilities.

ties occasionally, just for the training it gives our imagination.

To be successful, people are going to need their imaginations increasingly as the years roll on. Imagination of today is the commonplace accomplishment of tomorrow.

VIBRATIONS

DEAF and dumb people danced to jazz music in Boston, at their annual ball.

They could not hear the music, but it started vibrations in air, walls and floor. These vibrations, entering the dancers' bodies thru the soles of their shoes and their skin nerves, carried the jazz rhythm and tune to their brains, like shocks of electricity.

Brains telegraphed the vibrations on to the emotions.

The body is a wireless apparatus, receiving the vibrations of sight, hearing, smelling, tasting, feeling.

What is a vibration? If you could answer that, you could explain the mystery of life. Life is motion. Motion is vibration.

Temporarily you impart life to a stone when you throw it—life, but not consciousness.

PROSPERITY

STAGE is set for a national foreign trade convention, to start in Philadelphia May 10. It will be valuable, important.

More valuable and important, however, is the growing realization that our country is going to get business back on its feet again without waiting for foreign trade.

In a pinch, we could build a stone wall around America and create prosperity for all by the simple exchange of commodities and services. The ball-and-chain on such an exchange is financial.

Money system needs the services of inventors.

mood, my dreams having been apocalyptic, with this era a seeming age of but sex and shekels. So below stairs to a solitary breakfast of fruit from the soil and henery.

And sat myself to read the Saturday night papers, this being Quinquagesima Lord's day and I, alone, too modest to seek public chapel. And reads therein General Byng has won consent of the Komish for an out of town Police Chief, and we with so many out of work. And this job paying, estimates varying, from $125 a month to $15,000 a year, with perquisites at the Greek restaurants and gasoline filling stations. So to the Club, but found Jimmie with a waiting list as long as that of the Faurot for Sir Harry. So out and to the post where I find a letter from C. E. Schell, the book merchant, and he wanting $3.85. I must sell another bond.

Thence back to my chambers and finished "Way of Revelation," an English war tale, yet semi-political and social. The best of it, era, so gave it to my eye specialist, who has been complaining of his vision of late.

Out in the West Ende is a look for a cottage coinciding with my purse. The war is still on, methinks, and my home desire malapropos. Waived gaily and he returned the salute to Father A. E. Roy Hamilton, descendant albeit as an orator if not thru corpules, of Alexander Hamilton, killed by Aaron in that pistol fight near New Amsterdam. Spoke in fine friendliness to Jim McHenry, whom I have not seen so much of late, and greeted, too, by Leo Christen, playmate of the beau monde of years ago.

Lunch at the Argonne with the caste of The Bat, and Lizzie having her full share of pulchritude. And methought a male of the species was keen for her whispy hayre. She sparkling with repartee, even to flippancy.

In the evening to dinner at a quiet inn, little known to the populace. Food extraordinary cooked and service delightful. And my friends seemed to enjoy our experience. Later to see Elsie and Wally at the Faurot and well entertained. So home and to bed.

HEALTH TALKS

Common Sense Ways to Keep Well
DIET FOR NURSING MOTHERS

There is a generally accepted belief among women that particular foods have specific effects upon the character of mothers' milk.

There is nothing to support this belief. Foods are broken down in the digestive tract and made over in the body. Any wholesome diet, ample in fuel and body-building materials, is suitable for the production of good milk.

However, it must be remembered that the milk glands are exceedingly sensitive to any nervous influences, and disturbances of digestion react unfavorably upon the milk-secreting mechanism.

For this reason, any food that disagrees with the mother, or whose effect is doubtful, should be avoided. Increased demands for food make the work of digestion unusually great. There is therefore more chance of an upset and the diet should be correspondingly simpler and easier of digestion.

Emotional and physical disturbances must be avoided. Excitement, worry, anger, fear, fatigue and constipation, all react quickly and with varying unfavorable results on the mothers' milk.

Successful nursing demands a quiet, contented life in which food is intelligently chosen and exercise, fresh air and mental diversion are supplied in moderation.

SUREST THING YOU KNOW
I've seen men win upon a fluke
One bout, perhaps, or three, or four—
A lad may swing a lucky duke
Luck helps a guy, these ain't no doubts.
But here's a fact that you can't Lump.
This is the dope, year in, year out—
It ain't no luck that makes a champ!

Luck sometimes deals a winnin' hand
To some poor dab that ain't the class.
But in the long run, understand!
He goes back to the tall green grass.
The lad that hoofs it to the top
Can't be no lazy, lucky tramp.
He's gotta have the stuff to cop—
It ain't no luck that makes a champ!

He's gotta have the pep an' nerve
Which nothin' in the world can dent.
He's gotta have the grit and nerve
To take his share of punishment.
Old Lady Luck may heap him, too.
But she's a kind of tickle vamp,
An' figurin' the long years thru,

OUR DIE IN CHAIR THIS WEEK

Two to be Electrocutated at Columbus Tomorrow

ON LIST FOR FRIDAY

General News Items Gathered From Ohio Cities

COLUMBUS.—(Associated Press) — For the first time in the history of the state, four men are scheduled to be executed within a week, according to Warden Thomas of the Ohio penitentiary.

Unless Governor Davis or courts intervene two men will go to the electric chair early tomorrow morning and two others early Friday morning.

Names of the four condemned men follow:

Walter Wright, 28, of Wellsville, to die Wednesday.

Harry Bland, 28, of Pomeroy, to die Wednesday.

LeRoy Tyler, 24, negro, of Youngstown, to die Friday.

John Burke, alias McGuire, of Toledo, to die Friday.

Wright was convicted of slaying Harry D. Cummins, Steubenville automobile dealer on a lonely road near Steubenville. His mother, Mrs. Elizabeth McDowell, who has appealed to Governor Davis, to reprieve her son, is expected to hear the Governor's decision here this afternoon.

Bland killed George Washington Heesle, at Pomeroy. Robbery was said to have been the motive.

Tyler murdered a young negro girl at Youngstown. Mrs. Thomas, wife of the warden has promised Tyler that she will see that his request that he be buried in his army uniform which he wore overseas is carried out.

Burke will pay the extreme penalty for his part in the slaying of A. Long and Lewis Schroeder, New York Central railroad detectives, who were shot down while guarding company funds.

The petition relates that property in Tiffin, to which the sons were to have full title at death of their father, was sold by Deeds in his lifetime and the money invested in the Lima property.

The amount of the trust fund was $2,137.45. Deeds had the property in his name. The estate was appraised at $7,000. The sons ask an accounting and the transfer of property, in which they claim their money is invested.

FUND IS GROWING

More than $1,000 Secured For Lima Art Museum

Lima club women, sponsoring an Art Museum association for this city, announce that a fund being created for the purchase of the first painting now totals more than $1,000. With the purchase of the initial picture, the Lima Art Museum will become a reality. The collection will be started at the Public Library.

Priceless paintings belonging to members of the family of the late Senator Calvin Brice may eventually find a place in the proposed Lima collection. At the recent meeting of the Lima Federation, reports for the first year under the leadership of Mrs. Beecher Moke as president, were gratifying to state officers.

Mrs. Frank Boone is in charge of the planting of memorial trees. Mrs. F. M. Bell is at the head of the nature-study department and expects to organize classes in the community to study birds and wild flowers. Mrs. Nellie Simpson is in charge of community sewing and conducts classes in the basement of the library every Tuesday from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. The sum of $236 has been donated to the library book fund.

STATE NEARS END IN MRS. OBENCHAIN'S TRIAL

Increases the action of the intestines

Hundreds of men and women have already found freedom from laxatives by eating Fleischmann's fresh yeast.

Doctors are now agreed that proper elimination of waste matter should be brought about by food. One doctor comes right out and states plainly that the indiscriminate use of cathartics is one of the causes of constipation.

Physicians all over the country are recommending Fleischmann's fresh yeast because it is a fresh food, rich in those elements which keep the intestines healthy. In one series of tested cases, normal functions were restored in from 3 days to 5 weeks.

Try it out for yourself. Begin today by adding 2 or 3 cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast to your everyday diet. Keep it up and see how normally and regularly your intestines act. Be sure it's Fleischmann's Yeast—the familiar tin-foil package with the yellow label. Place a standing order with your grocer.

SUSIE SMART'S ADVICE

I HAVE a little question to ask you. Suppose you will think I am silly to make such a fuss over a little thing, but this has hurt me extremely and I think you will agree with me that it was not the thing for my fiancé to do. The other night he bought me a box of candy. We were going to a dance and so ate several pieces before we left. I left the box on the table downstairs and when we returned almost the entire box was gone. My fiancé and mother had eaten it. I think when my fiancé saw it, he was racing. He said such mean things and called me a great names. This hurt me. I can't get over it. Do you think if he really loves me he would have shown such a mean and selfish attitude?

AND the pretty romance was blasted by a box of candy. Yes "Peggy," I do think your fiancé was extremely rude and inconsiderate to call attention to this matter. It was uncalled for and had he possessed a proper understanding of etiquette, he would not have referred in any way to the box of candy. After he had presented the candy to you it was yours to dispose of as you saw fit. He might naturally suppose that you were accustomed to sharing such gifts with your family.

Of course this incident does not necessarily indicate that the young man does not love you. It does suggest, however, that he has a selfish and petty nature and that he is inclined to make a great fuss over small matters. It is for you to decide whether you love him enough to overlook his faults and be happy with him.

Dear Miss Smart: In reading your advice in The Lima News and so I am writing to you a little myself. (1) I lately and rather late have been married. I have a lot of money as my sister and I used a few things for spring I wonder if you could tell me where to get a new dress. (2) I am going to a hotel. I can get some of these things. I want to know what a dress person would tell me. (3) I am writing you.

(1) Mrs. Julia Simpson, head of the Employment Bureau at the Y. W. C. A., Morris Arcade, would be very glad to help you to seek a position. There is one available and if it would be suitable for you to work after school. (2) Walking is very helpful in reducing weight. However, if it is to be effective one should walk regularly from three to five miles daily. Of course a stout person should have plenty of plain and wholesome food but one who is too stout should eat very sparingly of sweet, starchy and fatty foods such as cake, candy, pastries, white breads, potatoes, butter, cream and fat meats. A stout person should eat very freely of vegetables. (3) It could be improved.

Dear Miss Smart: (1) Please tell me whether Sally from 1118 W. North-st. is a good girl. I want to get a checked woolen suit and would like to have it made in some way that would be a clear idea. Could you tell me of any cut you like? Do you think bobbed hair is better than long hair? I have long hair and as I have only hair I must wash it every week to make it look all right. I don't think my hair is good. I have heard that one should shampoo her hair every week.

(1) They will be worn some. (2) Just take a glance thru the many magazines, which specialize in dress patterns and you will find loads and loads of clever and "cute" ideas for your checked woolen jumper. (3) Really it seems that bobbed hair is becoming more fashionable and more popular as the years advance. (4) Beauty specialists differ as to how often one should shampoo the hair. Some say it is very injurious to wash the hair more frequently than every few weeks. If your hair is inclined to be oily you might use orris root powder. This is splendid for removing the oil from the hair and making it fluffy and pretty. By the use of orris powder it would only be necessary for you to wash your hair every other week. The powder may be purchased at any drug store.

Mrs. John E. Galvin, of W. Market-st., presided at a most delightful luncheon bridge at the Elks Home Monday.

The tables were attractively appointed for the luncheon, a color scheme of yellow and white predominating. Daffodils and violets were prettily combined with greenery to form the centerpiece while yellow candles tied with violet tulle were placed at the corners.

In the playing which followed the luncheon, Mrs. Everett Furnas held high score.

Mrs. O. R. Selfridge, of W. Market-st., welcomed the members of the Woman's Bridge club at her home, Monday. One o'clock luncheon preceded the enjoyable afternoon of play.

The Loyal Ladies' Class of Olivet Presbyterian church will meet with Mrs. Howard Allen, of 631 W. Kibby-st., Wednesday evening.

The meeting of the Delphian club, which was to have been held Wednesday afternoon will be held instead with Mrs. M. A. Wagner, of S. Charles-st.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BAKED APPLES

Sister Mary Tells How to Make Them for All Meals

A carefully baked apple is quite as acceptable as dessert for luncheon or dinner as it is for breakfast.

There is no fruit with greater possibilities than the plain, everyday apple, and while the woman who nurtures depend on apples for her fresh fruit sometimes almost despairs of cooking them in a new way she finds them as essential as potatoes.

Try these baked apple recipes and see if the family doesn't like 'em and want more.

BREAKFAST APPLES
Four apples, 1 teaspoon butter, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1-2 cups stewed prunes, 1 tablespoon lemon juice.

Pare apples and cut in half. Remove core. Arrange in a shallow pan. Put one-half teaspoon butter in each cavity and one teaspoon sugar. Add 1 lemon juice to prunes and pour over apples. Cover and bake 45 minutes. Remove cover and serve.

LUNCHEON APPLES
Four apples, 2-3 cup sugar, 1-2 cup water, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind (optional), 8 large seeded raisins, 4 marshmallows.

Pare and core apples. Make a syrup of the sugar and water. Boil three minutes. Add lemon rind. Fill the apples as tasteless as an old and ripe apple is an improvement. Pour syrup over apples in a pan. Fill the cavity of each apple with the raisins.

Cover pan and bake in a moderate oven for 40 minutes or until the apples are tender. The length of time depends largely on the cooking qualities of the fruit.

When the apples are tender, but not broken, remove cover and put a marshmallow on top of each apple. Bake apple and marshmallow with juice in the pan and put under the fame or in a very hot oven. When the marshmallow is puffy and beginning to brown remove from pan and cool slightly. Serve without sugar or cream.

DINNER APPLES
Four apples, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 2 cups water, 1 teaspoon lemon sugar, 2 slices of lemon 3-8 inch thick, 2 tablespoons currant jelly, 1-2 cup finely chopped nuts, 1-2 cup whipping cream, 2 tablespoons powdered sugar, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla.

Pare and core apples. Make a syrup of sugar and water and boil three minutes. Add lemon juice and rind. Put apples in a pan with a close fitting cover and put one teaspoon of currant jelly in the cavity of each apple.

Four over the ship, cover closely and bake in a slow oven for half an hour. Baste frequently with the juice in the pan. The apples should be transparent when done. If the juice does not jelly remove apples and cook the syrup a few minutes longer.

Try on a cold saucer to see if it jellies. Pour syrup over apples and when cool enough to handle cut each apple with the chopped nuts. Lay cool. Serve on glass plates topped with the cream whipped and sweetened.

This is a delicious dessert that is both economical and nourishing. (Copyright, 1922)

LEARN A WORD A DAY

TODAY'S word is ABSTEMIOUS. It's pronounced ab-ste-mee-us with accent on the second syllable.

It means—temperate, sparing, refraining from overeating, shunning strong drink.

It comes from Latin, "abstineo," away from, and "temetum," strong drink.

Companion word — abstemiousness. It's used like this — "If you would escape illness, be abstemious in your diet."

POLLY AND PAUL --AND PARIS

By ZOF BECKLEY.

FUN CRESCENDO—DIMINUENDO

Under the hubbubbing fun of the whole thing, Polly's shyness vanished. As "Queen" her part required only grace and prettiness and she soon found herself entering into the merry spirit with the best of them.

Suddenly the "King" rose in all the majesty of his tablecloth robe his brass kettle helmet, and waved his scepter which had started life as a breadstick.

"If, my subjects," he boomed, "I desire minstrels from all corners of the earth to sing before my Queen, I command bards, and those who dance with skillful feet. Come, Ladislus, of the new-hatched Republic of Georgia, give us your famous 'treckstuzzi'." Barry sneezed the name of the dance, and mid the shouts of the company a little slim man with blue-black hair and eyebrows that made a straight line across his face, sprang forward and spun round and round like a top.

Checking himself suddenly, he began his strange steps, first slowly, then gradually speeding into dizzy leaps and rushes, punctuated with cries of "Huss! H-s-s-s" that stirred the crowd to wild applause. Ending with a wonderful leap in the air, feet twinkling, hair a-wave, he brought up before the royal couple, bowing till his forehead touched the floor.

He was followed by a tall, slender fellow with great eyes and longish dark hair—a Persian sculptor, born in poverty, who as a lad had tended herds on the barren mountain sides. He took from his pocket a thin reed pipe and played a quaint melody that made the heart weep—All minor notes and quavering. A nightingale turned human and telling of its love.

So the hours sped by, with songs and dances, jests buffooneries and

The WRONG FACE

ISABELL OSTRANDER

BEGIN HERE TODAY.
FAY TUDOR, wealthy orphan, returned from reconstruction work in France to recover from a nervous breakdown, the result of overwork and the news of the death of her brother, Wilbur. At her summer home in Sandy Cove, she is met by her aunt, an attractive widow, Mrs. CLARA TUDOR, and the latter's daughter, Fay, who is the same person as the girl who had been in the colony as her rejected suitor.

GO ON WITH THE STORY.
They might even think that her face was affected by the horrors which she had passed!

After breakfast she wandered off alone down the winding side path which led to the shore. A masculine voice sounded close to her. She started violently, her nerves jangling.

"A dapper young man in immaculate flannels with a bit of blond mustache above his weak mouth, stood beside her. Awfully sorry I startled you, Laurel told me you were home, and I thought I might find you out here; I remembered it was a favorite spot of yours."

"I find I have forgotten most things that were habits before I went away," Fay retorted coolly. "I suppose I was one of the habits which you have forgotten, too, Fay."

"You are sure?" she returned frankly. "Until Laurel told me you were at the club, I had forgotten that you were even alive."

Cadmus winced but persisted. "You are quite sure? There is not a live spark left among the ashes?"

"There aren't even ashes," Fay picked up a few grains of sand and blew them lightly from her palm. "They are gone like that."

He sighed sentimentally, but a light of something very like relief glimmered in his pale eyes. "There was a hint of amusement in her face."

"Cheer up, Harry. This is too nice a morning for post mortems! What's the sheriff, isn't it? Who is the young man with him?"

She nodded down the beach to where a tall, thin man with a grizzled mustache was talking to a younger, boyish-looking stranger. "A police official from the city named Larry or Barry or something," Harry Cadmus responded. "He came up to the club yesterday to make some inquiries."

"Inquiries?" Fay repeated. "About what?"

"Somebody's maids were scared a night or two ago by something they took to be a wild man," Cadmus laughed. "They'd heard talk, I suppose, because some seat cushions and a steamer rug were stolen from Bearsall's launch. Old Hulse hasn't had anything to interest him since the Patterson robbery a year ago, and he is determined to earn his pay."

Fay was silent. A wild man! What if that face? But she put the thought resolutely from her. As the two moved off her eyes followed them idly.

"Do you know, there used to be a tiny cave somewhere about here," she remarked to her companion. "We played all sorts of games of pirates and buried treasures there when we were children. No stranger er could find it in a hundred years, but it would be a splendid place for any one to hide out in."

They walked back to meet Laurel playing with her colts on the lawn. She raised her eyebrows at their approach. "Mother has been looking everywhere for you, Fay," she announced loftily. "She could not imagine where you had gone, but I might have guessed; you always were fond of the bay."

She seemed deliberately to ignore Cadmus' presence, and Fay gazed at her in astonishment. What could be the matter? She knew her mercurial cousin's moods well enough to recall that this assumption of cold sarcasm always indicated an aroused fury raging beneath. Laurel's temper was uncertain at best; what could have awakened it now?

With a word of apology Fay left them, but at the steps of the porch she glanced back. Laurel, and of the garage, any more than he left any signs behind him in the pantry.

"The pantry?" "That was why cook thought there were ghosts about. This morning two chickens were gone and the other food was all mussed about, but everything was locked up just as she had left it."

So that face which she had seen could not have been a fragment of her sick brain.

That strained, white face with the wildly staring eyes appeared once more before her mental vision, and she shuddered.

When the shadows were lengthening Fay descended and strolled about the lawn.

Near the garage she saw Frank in conversation with the sheriff's companion of the morning.

The last part of Barry's sentence reached her ears: "—not an ordinary tramp, but some one who knows the premises thoroughly."

The sergeant lifted his cap to Fay and turned to leave, but she intercepted him.

"I'll walk as far as the gate with you; I want to speak to you about something."

"Some one else has seen the man beside those two maids," she began nervously. "I saw him, Sergeant Barry! I would prefer that you say nothing about this to any one, for I've been very ill and I cannot yet endure any excitement."

"You may rely upon me," the sergeant was studying her closely. "Did you get a good look at his face?"

"Yes. I shall never forget it!" Shuddering, she told him in detail of her experience of the night before.

CHAPTER III
Mrs. Tudor's cottage was the smallest and least pretentious of the colony, but invitations to her small "affairs" were eagerly sought after.

Fay had gone to a guest room on an upper story, but the music reached her even there, and the laughter and hum of voices and whirling of arriving motors made her treacherous nerves quiver.

After a hopeless effort she threw her book aside. If she could only escape from the house to a secluded nook where she could be undiscovered, she felt that the cool air would refresh her.

Like a moving shadow she glided past the tea-house and to the edge of the wood.

All at once she became aware of the crunch of gravel upon the path. They were dragging, halting steps, with an odd sort of thump in between; surely not made by the light feet of any of the dancers!

In a moment a lesser shadow descended.

Mrs. Tudor announced that her attorneys had come, and the rest of the morning was spent in a maze of legal and financial detail. Fay was astonished to learn the extent of her own wealth. She had inherited her brother's share of the family estate, and that amounted to a sum which staggered and depressed her.

When the waitress brought up her luncheon Fay noticed that the girl was smiling.

"What is it, Louise?" she asked. "Oh, Miss Tudor!" The girl dimpled. "Frank was teasing the cook this morning because she declared that there were ghosts or witches about, and now he's found that his best suit is gone from his room over the garage and she has the laugh on him!"

"Frank's suit is gone?" repeated Fay. "Stolen, you mean?"

"Yes, miss. Gone from his closet some time last night, and there's no trace of how the thief got in or out tached itself from the deeper ones and the girl saw to her amazement that the intruder was a man crutches. Could it be the miscreant who had invaded the house and garage two nights before?

She had turned to flee, when a low, vaguely familiar voice fell upon her ears.

"Miss Tudor! Miss Tudor, are you here?" "Captain Warren. Oh, I am so glad you found me!"

A hand was lifted from the rung of the crutch and clasped hers warmly. "I did not know your people were giving a dance tonight or I should not have intruded. I heard that you had returned and I wanted so much to see you. I've been staying with friends in the neighborhood, but I am leaving tomorrow."

"It was good of you to come. There was a shock not of pity in the girl's tones. The man who had come to her in Paris, her brother's friend, had been no cripple."

"Tell me all that has happened since I saw you in Paris." "This, you mean?" He indicated the crutch. "Got it in the Argonne. However, I hope to discard my props before long and get about as well as before. I heard that you had been very ill."

"Just a breakdown." Fay's tone was lighter than it had been for a long time. "I never knew that I had nerves before."

He nodded. "I know. I've felt that way, too." "There was an unconscious wishfulness in his tone."

"I could not speak of your brother's things to you in Paris," he went on. "I knew that it would distress you too much then; but I had saved them for you and I was sure that you would want them."

"I do; more than anything else in the world they are precious to me." She spoke very low, and there was a pause. After a time she asked in a change of tone: "But is everything going all right with you?"

SMOKE RING'S STORY

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

We all got 'round his head and murmured into his ear.

"Yes," said the little smoke ring who was telling a story up in Smoke Land. "I was ever so worried when I saw that my master was frowning, and decided that it was the letter he was holding that displeased him."

"I hung onto the corner of the mantle-piece as long as I could, and then I decided to look at the letter for myself; so I floated over to his shoulder where I could easily see the written words."

"And this was what I read: 'Dear brother, it has been a long time since I have written to you so no doubt you'll be surprised to get a letter. I wouldn't be bothering you now, but I'm in trouble. I've been sick since I came home from the war, and out of work. Mary has been sick, too. I'm getting better and can work soon, but our savings are gone and if you could lend me a hundred dollars, I'll pay it back the first minute I am able. Your brother, John.' 'Oh, botheration!' grumbled the rich man. 'I can't help the fellow. I need every cent I can get my hands on to buy more of that stock that pays so well. I can't help it if he's sick.'"

"By this time more of my brothers were coming out of the pipe and when I told them the trouble they were as indignant as I was. So we got our heads together and decided to do something. We all got 'round his head and murmured into his ears, 'Poor John! Dear John! Don't you remember when you were boys together?'"

"And the rich man began to think of his youth and his little brother. 'Suddenly he got up, strode over to his desk and wrote a check for a thousand dollars and put it into an envelope.'"

"I feel that I've done some good on earth," said the smoke-ring proudly.

LUBITSCH'S "LOVES OF PHAROAH" IS TRIUMPH

(BY ESTHER WAGONER)
LUBITSCH proves again in "The Loves of Pharaoh" that he is the screen's greatest master in the handling of great numbers of actors.

There is hardly any comparison to be made between this film and other spectacle films. In many shots Lubitsch has posed hundreds of extras in serried rows. Motionless, they appear as inanimate features of the setting until they begin to move in one accord.

Humans appear as ants in their sand hills in some long shots. In other scenes human flesh in masses swirls like foliage in a wind-carried forest.

"The Way of a Maid"—At Least, of Elaine

HERE'S a hitting sort of picture, a nice little comedy drama with several equally nice people in the cast, who entertain you pleasantly without taking themselves or their subject too seriously. "The Way of a Maid" is the sort of story that makes the popular magazines popular. You will at once associate it with a box of candy and a nice cool porch swing. The heroine is just lovely and wears clothes like a million. The hero is the kind of intrepid young man to whom the average girl would rather say "I do" than anything else. And the folks you meet in between times impress you favorably.

What's it about? Well, Miss Nadia Castleton, after a masked ball at which she is dressed as a maid, decides to spend the night with her chum, who lives at a hotel. Across the hall lives Tommy Lawlor, son of the bon bon king of Peoria. Tommy has been out among 'em and arrives home to find his room in a sad state of upheaval. Perseveringly and unsteadily seeking service, he comes across Miss Castleton, in her maid's costume, who is fussing with the key.

In close-ups the unity of action of the close-jammed crowds gives them the effect of a hotten mass. Emil Jannings, who was Henry VIII in "Deception," is Pharaoh Amenes. Paul Wegener, the central figure of "The Golden" is the Egyptian king. Dagny Servaes, reputed to be the most beautiful actress in Europe, is the heroine. The hero is Henry Liedtke, called "the Wally field of Europe."

A long line stands in front of the Criterion theatre in New York each day waiting to see the film. That long line promises to be there for months to come, for "The Loves of Pharaoh" is one of the greatest achievements in film history.

DAGNY SERVÆS AS THE SLAVE GIRL AND FRIEDRICH KUEHNE AS THE HIGH PRIEST WITHIN THE TOMB OF THE SPHINX IN "THE LOVES OF PHAROAH," NEW LUBITSCH PRODUCTION.

on "Ivanhoe" and "Richard, the Lion-Hearted." After that he will do "The Virginians" and then a sequel to "The Mark of Zorro," now being written by Johnston McCullery. After Mary Pickford completes "Toss of Storm Country," she will probably make "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall." Jack Pickford is to appear in "Garrison's Finish" after he completes "A Tailor Made Man."

Madame Clifford, Psycho Analyst

A BIT of unusual procedure, the work of Madame Clifford, psychoanalyst, is being presented this week at the Lyric theatre, in conjunction with the regular program. Madame Clifford, who for eighteen years has been doing analytic work, sits blindfolded on the stage, while her assistants read questions. No names are required, and in that phase Madame Clifford's work is different from most mind-readers. Also, she tells you, when the question you have asked is untrue. She answers any questions put to her.

This demonstration of psychic powers is creating much comment among theatre-goers who are recognizing the quality and reliability of Madame Clifford's work.

The Lyric will present Madame as a special added attraction today and for the remainder of the week. On Friday a ladies' special matinee will be given.

ALL SET FOR LIMA GYM CLUB FIGHT CARD TUESDAY NIGHT

EVERYTHING is set for the well-known mill at Memorial Hall Tuesday night. Preparations were wound up Monday and members of the Lima Gym club declare never before have they been in position to afford fans a better card.

Jack Kennedy, the Gary, Ind., bantamweight, who is down to scrap Don Baxter in ten rounds, arrived in Lima with his manager Vernon R. Lehman Monday afternoon. Kennedy is a clean-cut little boxer who gives promise of a lot of ring action.

He'll get all the action he wants, according to word from Baxter's camp. Don has absorbed all the training possible, and if the Gary boy beats him it will not be because of lack of preparation.

Young Denny, Rossford, Ohio, who has been training in Dayton, has been training in Dayton. Horner said Monday night he is aware of the reputation and the long string of knockouts Stigall brings with him, but feels it in his bones that the Marylander is due for a lacing.

FIFTH CARD TO BE PROMOTED BY GYM CLUB

It will be the fifth card promoted by the Lima Gym club, and while not all of those in the past were successes financially, they nevertheless had a part in placing the many sports on a higher plane.

One of the present boxing cards made by the selection of two judges—Dr. O. E. Chenoweth and George Bayly. They will decide all bouts except in cases of a tie, when the referee is empowered with the final ballot.

Charley Maxwell will be seen in his familiar role as third man in the ring. No card would seem complete without him dancing around the

MUTT AND JEFF—WE'LL SAY THAT'S GETTING AWAY WITH IT—

BRINGING UP FATHER—

By McMANUS

SHORT SHAVINGS

Frank Colucci has a friend who recently moved out to a house on the Springfield line, tapped a tree in front of his house when the sap began to run. This was to make his own maple sirup. "He didn't have much success," reported Colucci. "The tree he tapped was an elm."

Frank A. Bundy, Ohio Electric superintendent, invented a contrivance which is attached to the faucet in his bath to throw a horizontal stream of water to the other end of the tub. "I had it aimed wrong," he says. "It hit the ceiling and the whole room was given a shower."

Harley East tried in vain to sing his baby to sleep. Then he put a record on the phonograph and succeeded at once. "That makes one more," he says, "who seems to prefer McCormack."

George L. Parmenter says there is one item on restaurant menu cards which he finds he can take literally in perfect trust. "That," he says, "is a small steak. It always is small, just as stated."

Frank Boone, W. Market-st. clerk in a local store, secured two fine pullets which he fed with care all winter. Frank hoped to garner a lot of eggs when spring came.

He was much discomfited when, one morning recently, his favorite "pullet" began to crow. Now Frank is going to run a want ad and sell the "pullet." He also has ceased bragging about his fine "hens."

WHERE DOES IT HURT? LONDON — Take it from the London Lancet, if you have been suffering from enterogenous cramps, you haven't. What has been ailing you is either methaemoglobinemia or sulphhaemoglobinemia. Further than that there are no explanations.

UNDISTURBED 3 DAYS PARIS — Informed by neighbors that Mme. Berthollet, in Rue Vergetoix had not been seen for some time, a local police commissary burst open the door and found the woman had been asleep three days and three nights. He waked her.

NEVER WANT ANYTHING ELSE
"I tried many different kinds of cough medicine," writes Mrs. E. I. Olson, 1917 Ohio Ave., Superior Wis., "but I never want anything else than Foley's Honey and Tar, used it for all my children and also for my grandchild. It has always done fine work." Foley's is a pure wholesome and absolutely safe remedy for the relief of colds, cough, croup and whooping cough. Children like it and it checks sneezing and sniffing. Chas. J. FROM GIRLHOOD TO WOMANHOOD
Woman Relied Upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Emporia, Kansas.—"I began using Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines years ago when I was a girl. For several years I had severe pains at menstrual periods, making me very weak and interfering with my regular duties. I tried several remedies without obtaining relief. I was induced to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound by friends and it often stored me to normal health. I often have occasion and do recommend your Vegetable Compound to my friends who have troubles similar to my own. You may use these facts as a testimonial."—EVA ALDRICH, 218 Union St., Emporia, Kansas.

There are many women who first used our Vegetable Compound during their girlhood days. They found it a valuable help during trying periods. In later years they use it whenever they feel those annoying symptoms which women often have. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a woman's medicine. It is prepared carefully from the best quality of medicinal plants, whose properties are especially adapted to correct the troubles women have.

Blankets still as soft and fleecy as the day you first tucked them in

YOU had had one pair ruined. Cake soap—rubbing—and your handsome blankets returned to you matted and shrunken—their softness and fleeciness gone.

They could not stand the old stern methods. Wool is more sensitive than any other fabric, and requires more careful laundering. Even the suds from a harsh soap or harsh soap flake will make its delicate scale-like fibres tangle and shrink.

With Lux you need not hesitate to wash your soft, fleecy blankets at the first sign of dinginess.

The creamy, satiny Lux flakes whisk into a thick lather. There is no rubbing to shrink and mat the tiny fibres—not one bit of solid soap to stick to the soft wool and yellow it. Your blankets come from their Lux bath as big and soft as when you put them in.

Your grocer, druggist, or department store has Lux. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.
